Kansas Chosen to Receive Second Grant from Robert Wood Johnson Foundation to Help Transform Health Care Through Nursing

Kansas City, KS – The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) has announced that the Kansas Action Coalition will receive a second two-year grant through the Future of Nursing State Implementation Program (SIP). The $7.65 million initiative is helping states prepare the nursing profession to address our nation's most pressing health care challenges—access, quality, and cost. Kansas is one of 18 states receiving its second two-year grant of up to $150,000, and Arizona, Maine, and West Virginia joined the program in February. RWJF's SIP now supports 33 state Action Coalitions.

SIP bolsters efforts already underway in 50 states and the District of Columbia—through the Future of Nursing: Campaign for Action—to improve health and health care through nursing. A joint initiative of AARP and RWJF, the Campaign is working to implement the Institute of Medicine's (IOM) evidence-based recommendations on the future of nursing. It provides a vehicle for nurses at all levels to lead system change to improve care for all through collaboration with business, consumer, and other health professional organizations.

"These grants have proven a wise investment and we are confident that this additional support will lead to even more advances," said Susan B. Hassmiller, PhD, RN, FAAN, RWJF senior adviser for nursing and director of the Future of Nursing: Campaign for Action. "We are immensely proud of the work our Action Coalitions are doing to transform nursing education and practice, support nurse leadership, and diversify the nursing workforce. RWJF is committed to building a Culture of Health so that everyone in America can live a healthier life, supported by a system in which nurses are essential partners in providing care and promoting health."

In addition to Kansas, the state Action Coalitions that will receive their second two-year grants of up to $150,000 are: Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Michigan, Missouri, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Utah, Wisconsin, and Wyoming. SIP grants go to state-based Action Coalitions that are making substantial progress toward implementing the IOM recommendations.

All SIP grantees must obtain matching funds and to date, states with SIP grants have raised more than $8.9 million beyond their RWJF funding. The Kansas Action Coalition has received matching funds from the Health Care Foundation of Greater Kansas City and the REACH Healthcare Foundation for this work.

"We are tremendously proud to be continuing with this program and look forward to doing even more to implement the IOM's future of nursing recommendations in Kansas," said Cynthia Teel, PhD, RN, FAAN, professor and associate dean for graduate programs at the University of Kansas, School of Nursing. "The work we are doing to transform nursing improves health care for everyone. We are grateful to the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, the Health Care Foundation of Greater Kansas City, and the REACH Foundation for this support."

Teel said the Kansas Action Coalition will continue its work on academic progression, particularly encouraging RNs to complete their baccalaureate degrees. The Kansas Action Coalition also will implement a new leadership residency program in Kansas City, Pittsburg, Wichita, and Hays. Nurses from public health, school health, long-term care, and acute care will participate in the year-long leadership residency program.

The Center to Champion Nursing in America (CCNA), an initiative of AARP, the AARP Foundation, and RWJF, serves as the national program office for the Future of Nursing State Implementation Program.

“We are so pleased to be able to add three new state Action Coalitions to this program, and provide continuing support to 18 others,” said Susan Reinhard, PhD, RN, FAAN, senior vice president of the AARP Public Policy Institute and chief strategist at CCNA. “We expect this new funding will help realize our goal, to transform health care through nursing so we can improve health outcomes and wellbeing for individuals, families, and communities.”

About the Future of Nursing: Campaign for Action
